

CALL FOR ARTICLES

The Revista Mexicana del Caribe announces a new era and returns to continue the dissemination of unpublished articles on the Caribbean, from the areas of the social sciences and the humanities. The academic community is invited to submit articles for publication, according to the following guidelines:

- 1) Previously unpublished research articles and reviews, written in Spanish, English or French that are not being considered for publication in any other medium, will be considered for publication in RMC.
- 2) Submissions will be accepted for peer-review once they have fulfilled the editorial requirements specified below.
- 3) Research articles will be reviewed by two specialist referees.
- 4) Three types of recommendation will be considered: 1) Accepted for publication without changes; 2) Accepted for publication with corrections; 3) Not recommended for publication.
- 5) The author will have 30 natural days to attend to the referees' recommendations and to send the revised version of the article.
- 6) The Revista reserves the right to carry out style revision on all accepted submissions and to apply the editorial criteria considered necessary.
- 7) The author will receive the following documents, which must be signed and returned to the Revista:
  - a) Statement of the originality of the article.
  - b) A letter of release of copyright permitting the reproduction, dissemination and distribution of the accepted submission, through electronic, visual, printed or any other technological means, exclusively for scientific and cultural ends.
